WATERLOO, Ont. — Starwood Hotels & Resorts Worldwide and Palm Holdings officially opened Four Points Waterloo-Kitchener Hotel & Suites with a ribbon-cutting ceremony last week.

“Four Points by Sheraton Waterloo-Kitchener Hotel & Suites is a great new option for travellers to the city of Waterloo, with an unbeatable location,” said Brian McGuinness, SVP of Specialty Select Brands for Starwood. “At Four Points, we believe in delivering honest value, genuine service and all the amenities guests need to stay productive on the road.”

Previously the Destination Inn, the property underwent extensive renovations. The newly designed hotel features 104 guestrooms with 52 suites, a restaurant, a bar, a fitness centre and Wi-Fi. The hotel is centrally located in the Waterloo Region, minutes from the region’s Technology Park, RIM Park and Waterloo International Airport.

Four Points by Sheraton is expected to open 20 new hotels as it marks its 200th hotel milestone in 2014. It is currently Starwood’s largest brand in Canada, with 26 hotels across the country.
